

March 6, 2003

Seven FM professionals met this Thursday for networking and support. One never knows how the interview process can go. A member reported back in January that he had an interview for a facility manager position at a garment company. He was told a few days later that the position had been filled. This week the company called him and asked if he would come in for a meeting. Sometimes you have to wait.

Elaine Hopkins was our special guest this week. She introduced a new FM consulting company SynerG3 that she has formed in partnership with Edie Fee. They offer project management services in Real Estate, Facilities, Relocations and Technology. She was attending the meeting to solicit resumes for project managers that they might use on a consulting basis. Thank you, Elaine for bringing this opportunity to our members.